DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 1 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Specht (US 2002/0017584).

Specht discloses:

- a pretensioner coupling for a seat belt retractor for a motor vehicle (Fig. 1), the retractor having a belt shaft (7) and a pretensioner drive (3, 21, 22, 23, 8) for winding the belt shaft,
- the pretensioner coupling comprising, a coupling latch (24) movably arranged between a release position and an engagement position, the coupling latch producing a load-transmitting rotational connection between the belt shaft and the pretensioner drive when in the engagement position and movable out of the engagement position and into the release position to permit relative rotation between the belt shaft and the pretensioner drive, and
- an inertial mass (15) mounted on the belt shaft and being rotationally arranged in relation to the belt shaft, the coupling latch being coupled with the inertial mass wherein the inertial mass rotates more slowly than the pretensioner drive when the pretensioner drive has been activated to wind the belt shaft thereby moving the coupling latch to the engagement position (Col. 4, Lines 16 – 45), and wherein the inertial mass rotating faster than the belt shaft at the conclusion of the winding of the belt shaft by the pretensioner drive, moving the coupling latch to the release position (Col. 2, Lines 49 – 62).

With respect to the recitation “adapted for”, an element that is “adapted for” performing a function only requires the ability to so perform.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 7 – 10 are allowed.

Claim 2 - 6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 31 March 2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The rejections of the previous office action were in response to the claim language. Applicant's arguments are based on the amended claim language applied to the prior art of reference; consequently, this office action comprises a detailed response to Applicant's arguments.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Midorikawa et al (6,554,092) is cited for reference of a seatbelt retractor having a pretensioner coupling and an inertial mass rotating faster than a belt shaft at the conclusion of winding the belt shaft whereby a coupling latch is moved to a release position.
